Greenbelt Team Had Smashing Good Time, Made Smashing Impression at Cincinnati

by Sandra Barnes

Euphoria overcame the Greenbelt team following their presentation at the All-America Cities competition on Saturday, November 16, in Cincinnati, Ohio. A month of intense preparation culminated in a ten-minute appearance before the All-America Cities jury to describe the citizen efforts that had resulted in significant community-wide achievements. The competition is sponsored by The National Municipal League and USA Today. Ten cities will be selected to receive the award of All-America City with winners to be announced in the spring.

"Everything went so well," exclaimed Tom Renahan, who represented Hunting Ridge condominiums and their successful citizen-initiated annexation drive.

"All our practice and preparation paid off," responded Joe Timer, board member for the Greenbelt Co-op Supermarket. "We were ready and we delivered. We gave it our best effort. I didn't see one presentation (from the other 19 cities in the competition) who surpassed us!"

"I could feel that our presentation sparked the audience," commented Kathy Gough.

"The jury loved us," agreed

Mayor Gil Weidenfeld.

"It rained during the entire weekend until Greenbelt made its presentation and then the sun came out," said an elated Micki Weidenfeld.

Basking in the glow of their performance, the presentation team — Renahan, Timer, Weidenfeld, Jerry Gough and Mary Lou Williamson—recalled their countless hours of practice over the past week to stay within the ten-minute time limit, to correlate their slides with their words, to introduce movements to gain the attention of the jury.

With his opening remarks, Mayor Weidenfeld held up a "Greenbelt Is Great" T-shirt. "T-shirts like these are worn by over a 1,000 citizens, in Greenbelt. . . ." he said. The jury's eyes turned from the slide presentation to the speaker.

"Gil set the tone with the T-shirt," Jerry Gough commented. "You can't take away that personal touch."

"How many mayors in America would hold up a T-shirt" at such a solemn occasion, exclaimed Renahan.

"We captured the judges' attention then," enthused Weidenfeld. "No other city used props. Only us. It was just great."

Weidenfeld also set the theme of the presentation, "A Tradition of Citizen Action," when he reminisced that one year the city council had to declare a moratorium on attending meetings so that "citizens could spend time with their families."

"When I read that in the application, I thought you were kidding," commented jury chairman William Quinn, former governor of Hawaii. "It's true," Weidenfeld asserted.

Relishing that moment later on, Weidenfeld exclaimed, "It was a very friendly interruption."

Although many citizen action projects were briefly cited in the city's application to become an All America City, three projects comprised the heart of the application. There were the Greenbelt News Review Volunteer and Fund Drive, the repurchase of the Co-op Supermarket, and the annexation of Hunting Ridge Condominiums.

Mary Lou Williamson, News Review editor, recalled the citizen campaign to raise $15,000 and gain 30 new staff members for the financially strapped volunteer newspaper.

Following the presentation, Williamson was quizzed on the independence of the paper from city control. "We pride ourselves on our independence," she responded.

"What was the effect of the News Review on the ability of the citizens to purchase the Co-op?" one judge asked. "By making sure that the story was always on the front page, we kept See ALL-AMERICA, pg. 4, col. 1

CITIZENS ENDORSE ROUTE CHANGE ON GREENBELT METRO EXTENSION

by Louise Spieler

At a public hearing on a proposed change in the route the Metrorail Green Line will take to Greenbelt, area officials and residents told transit authorities they wholeheartedly support the rail line and want it built as soon as possible. Officials and residents spoke at a hearing on Nov. 6 held by officials of the Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority to consider the route change known as the Greenbelt Extension Alternative.

"The commuting public needs this now," state delegate Joan Pitkin (D-23rd-Md.) said. She said the New Carrollton station, the closest Metro stop to Greenbelt, is overloaded with commuters.

"We've had enough hearings," she told about 150 people gathered in the auditorium of Eleanor Roosevelt High School. "This is important to Greenbelt and its neighbors."

State Sen. Leo Green (D-23rd-Md.) reminded WMATA officials that his district, which includes Greenbelt, cast 70 percent of its votes in favor of the Metro project when it was first proposed in 1968.

"They wanted to get on with the job way back then," Green said. "I'm sure they want to get on with it even more now."

The route change would affect the portion of the proposed line from Berwyn Road to Sunnyside Avenue. Relocation of the new station, which originally was to be in Berwyn Heights, would improve access to the Capital Beltway and increase parking spaces from 1,000 to 3,000, according to WMATA reports.

Riders will enter the station, which WMATA officials predict will serve about 23,000 passengers daily, from the east on Kenilworth Avenue, Greenbelt Road and Cherrywood Lane.

Changes include building the Greenbelt station just south of the Capitol Beltway adjacent to the B&O railroad tracks, which the Metro line will follow; constructing ramps for eastbound Beltway traffic entering and westbound traffic exiting the station; and creating a lake and park for residents of Berwyn Heights and College Park.

The 38-acre Lake Metro, the centerpiece of the park, would control flooding in the area and provide dirt for fill during construction of the line.

The alternate plan would also move the service inspection and repair yard—a major facility to store and care for hundreds of Metro cars—to the north rather than south of the Beltway.

Greenbelt Endorses Plan

Greenbelt Mayor Gil Weidenfeld also endorsed the new plan. "The route change would not only serve the largest ridership due to its Beltway access, but would also have the least community impact since the land proposed for use is now unpopulated," he said.

However, Weidenfeld called for coordinating WMATA's plans for Beltway ramps and overpasses with the construction of a proposed overpass and extension at Cherrywood Lane. He also asked WMATA officials to consider adding a pedestrian crossing from the Hollywood neighborhood to the station.

Other Endorsements

Berwyn Heights Mayor William T. Armistead Jr. also supported the route change.

"There's no question in our mind that the Greenbelt Extension Alternative is the best alternative," he said.

However, Armistead also suggested that traffic to the lake park be steered away from Berwyn Road and onto 55th Avenue and Greenbelt Road to reduce traffic through Berwyn Heights.

The plan also drew praise from Michael Jacobs and Dervy Lomax, members of the College Park City Council.

SHL Comments

Representing landowner A. H. Smith and Springhill Lake Associates, attorney Richard K. Reed called for joint planning between Prince Georges County and WMATA officials to consider the longterm as well as immediate effects of the station's relocation.

Reed said that his clients, who own 125 acres of land surrounding the new Metro station site, also favor the extension of Cherrywood Lane to decrease traffic congestion.

Following his testimony, Reed said his clients are interested in a number of projects around the Greenbelt station.

What's the Secret of Legion Post 136? Or, You Can't Hide the Truth Forever

by Norman Scherstrom

Can you keep a secret? Greenbelt's American Legion Post 136 recently became the tenth largest post in the world.

Don't tell anyone, but the real beneficiaries of this achievement are not the Legionnaires but the citizens of Greenbelt.

Oh, for Post 136, which had 58 members when it was chartered in 1938 and just above 700 when Greenbelt celebrated its 25th anniversary in 1962, its new high ranking is a feather in its military cap. But for Greenbelt it means that the profit from this non-profit organization and the labor of its concerned members flow like a river of goodwill into the reservoirs of Greenbelt's churches, charities and civic organizations.

"We spend a lot of money during the year in the community," past Post Commander Richard Santos said. "And it would be thousands of manhours a year."

"Also, there's the use of the Post, the help, the overhead, the food and the cleanup. It's hard to measure the use of the Post in monies."

The Post does get used. Ask the swim club or the Greenbelt Little League where they held their banquets. Ask the senior citizens where they have lunch every second Wednesday of each month. Ask Miss Greenbelt where she and her fellow contestants celebrated their pageant. Ask the children where the best Halloween and Christmas parties are held. Ask the city where to hold a retirement banquet.

"We offer our services, our manpower and our facilities. They could have it at the Youth Center, but where are they going to get the food from?" Santos said.

Post 136 donates money, too. Recipients include the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Clubs, the Boy Scouts, the Little League, the churches, the senior citizens, the local American Legion ball club and charities such as the American Lung Association, Easter Seals and the United Way. The Greenbelt News Review was the delighted recipient of such a cash donation—very generous and totally unexpected—just last year, before the fund drive was announced.

Sometimes the contributions take other forms, such as transportation for out-of-town activities or sports events and for scholarships.

"We have the Greenbelt American Legion Memorial Fund," Santos said. "It's a nurses' profession scholarship run in conjunction with Prince Georges Community College."

The Legion supports students through programs and awards. Boys Week is a week-long citizenship course for high school juniors. And, the nationwide oratorical contest for high school students culminates in a national face-off with a grand prize of $16,000 for the outstanding orator.

Santos said, "Another thing we do strictly in Greenbelt, we give citizenship awards in the elementary and the middle schools." There are a winner and a runner-up at each of these Greenbelt schools.

The wedding of Miss Lori Ann Kellaher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kellaher, of Greenbelt and Stephen M. Nohe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nohe, of Vienna, West Virginia, took place Sunday, October 6, at 3 p.m., at St. Hugh's Church, officiated by the Rev. John Stack.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Victorian gown of organza lace embroidered with beads and crystals, with a cathedral train.

Mrs. Susan Kellaher Hartwick was matron of honor and Lisa Kellaher was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Dale Kellaher, Patricia Fineran, Mrs. Cindy Callahan, Mrs. Kristy Nohe, Patricia Lopez, and Laura Nohe. Stephanie Nohe and Sherri Hartwick were the flower girls.

The workshops are geared towards children ages 4-12. Taught by Laura Farrall, they will feature improvisation, characterization, storybook theater monologues, sensory perception, concentration, make-up and props, and movement.

The first 90-minute workshop will follow this week's movie, "The Shaggy D.A." at about noon. No registration is necessary for the classes; however, children attending the movie will be given first preference.

Laura Farrall has been teaching workshops in the area for the past 5 years. She has also joined the staff at the Greenbelt Arts Center. In addition to running the workshops, she will be working with Group Sales, publicity and box office.

The new hours are funded in part by a grant from the Maryland Park and Planning Commission as part of their audience development program. "The new hours should make it easier for our patrons to buy tickets and get information about the Arts Center," comments Mary Jo Ford, General Manager of the theater. "We feel that with our new tickets and box office operations, the theater is moving in a professional direction."

Severe Loss

To the Editor:

Greenbelt may be "Great" but a city's greatness lies only in the people who live in it. I'd like to comment on an aspect that I find not so "Great," in fact very disturbing.

Out of the four years I've lived in Greenbelt I've had five articles stolen that were either in our yard, on our porch, inside the screen door or near vicinity. These were a day-old Cabbage Patch doll, a two-day-old sled (right under our porch), two zipper-pulls unopened (in screen door!), a bike (in yard by door) and scarf (the one time I didn't lock our car right in front of our house).

In all the other neighborhoods I have lived in, I have never had things stolen like this. And what I find even more disturbing is the possibility that the thefts may be done by a child . . .

If the person or persons would ever like to return any of these articles, we live at 10-J Southway. Not only is this a loss to us (particularly my children) but a severe loss to the person who feels it is okay to steal. It certainly takes away from the greatness of this community!

OPEN LETTER

To Greenbelters:

We have just returned from the experience of a lifetime. This weekend we represented Greenbelt in the 1986 All-America Cities competition in Cincinnati.

As a team, each of us contributed in some way to the success of our presentation. But without community-wide planning and preparation we could not have succeeded. Many committee members, fund raisers, contributors, News Review staff and city employees worked very hard and deserve sincere thanks.

The foundations of our bid for All-America City are three recent accomplishments of citizen action groups: The News Review volunteer and fund drive; the annexation of Hunting Ridge; and, the repurchase of the Co-op Supermarket.

Greenbelt's heritage of community involvement is certainly reflected in these three projects. But everyone who participates in every Greenbelt organization and activity shares the credit for Greenbelt's tradition of citizen action.

It was our privilege to tell the story of Greenbelt's achievements.

Finest Veterans' Day

This year's Veterans' Day observance was the finest I have yet seen. In particular the orchestra and vocalists of Roosevelt High School are to be congratulated for their songs from each of America's four wars in the 20th Century. These songs must have brought back some poignant memories to the people who were involved in those wars; they were historically quite interesting to the rest of us. The American Legion speaker's citing of the famous place names, military leaders, and numbers of American soldiers mobilized, killed, and injured in each of these wars, followed by the Roosevelt High School songs from that war, helped bring back some of the atmosphere of World War I, World War II, Korea, and Vietnam. We all learned something this November 11.

Congratulations to all!!

All-America City Team Returns

(Continued from page one—the issue before the citizens. We felt it was an important issue for the community and it needed resolution.)

Timer and Renahan recounted their campaigns of forming the Co-op and annexing Hunting Ridge. Jerry Gough summed up the presentation by touching on many of the citizen action activities including the 50th Anniversary Committee and the annual Greenbelt Labor Day Festival.

Highlight

The highlight of the presentation occurred when one of the judges asked if a committee had been formed to work on the presentation.

"Absolutely," Gough replied. "In fact we call ourselves 'Mary Lou and the Four Rhythm Boys,'" he joked, bringing laughter from jury and audience alike. An alpride swelled as the team saw members of the jury actually reading copies of that special edition of the News Review.

Mark Davis had the task of setting up Greenbelt's booth in Cincinnati, a series of photographs depicting citizen action. A fair-like atmosphere dominated the room where 20 All America City finalists set up displays and bragged about their cities. Jackson, Michigan won the hearts of many participants, who enjoyed the steady flow of rich cheese-cake, chocolates, brownies, cookies, sparkling cider and other goodies which the delegation had brought with them to show off products of their city. Tote bags from Spartanburg, S. C. and Lynchburg, Va. were quickly filled with brochures, community newspapers, wash cloths, pens, pencils, buttons, frisbees, and other paraphernalia.

"You felt the friendship of all the people," explained Jose Morales, another member of the group, who represented Springhill Lake Civic Association. Morales was very busy making friends among the participants and jurists. On the first day he gallantly offered his assistance to two women from Cleveland in assembling their booth. Morales masterminded casual encounters with key people in the men's room, the elevator and bar. A one-man spokesman for the city, Morales casually remarked, "You gotta do what you gotta do for Greenbelt."

Bob Zugby represented Greenbriar Condominiums. He found himself filling the void of coach for the presentation team. He helped them in their rehearsals. At one point he held individual coaching sessions in his hotel room by setting up a mock podium with an end table, four overturned glasses, an ice bucket, a tray and a telephone directory.

Zugby coached the team on facial expressions and word emphasis until the five were a polished group which "peaked at the performance," according to Renahan.

Alexander Barnes, representing the News Review fund drive, called the entire weekend a moving experience. "It's like the Johnny Appleseed of community pride," he said, as he remembered sharing stories with representatives from other cities. "You get such a wonderful feeling about Greenbelt. It confirms your civic pride," added Renahan.

Dinner Events

It seemed as if Fate were indeed smiling on Greenbelt during the after dinner performance of the Cincinnati Opera Company. When the ensemble announced their last number, Jose Morales introduced the piece, singing the first few bars of "Maria" from West Side Story.

Fate intervened when the performers were introduced and singer, Gene Galvin, stated his hometown as Greenbelt, Md. Wild cheers and applause ensued. He seemed like a plant, but it turned out Galvin grew up in nearby Bowie, graduated from Bowie High School, and worked as a singing waiter at Jaspers. The Greenbelt group adopted him as if he were a native son.

"I worked really hard all weekend," said Renee Bryan, city staff person whose job it was to videotape the entire proceedings for the folks at home. Bryan distinguished herself with the loudest whistle when Greenbelt was introduced at the dinner.

Two public works employees, Kenny Hall and Gene Diest, drove to Cincinnati with the video equipment, slide projectors, and booth paraphernalia. Throughout the weekend they sported their Kelly green city shirts, alerting all at the conference of their allegiance. Jimmy Gough, 16-year-old son of Kathy and Jerry, was busy photographing all events for the News Review.

For this reporter, too, there are few experiences as rewarding as sharing a sense of community pride with your friends. It is the pay-off to many hours spent at boring meetings and often frustrating encounters with difficult people when you ask yourself, "Why am I doing this?" and "I'd rather be home reading a good novel." However, the exhilaration of being with members of your community, of sharing such a unique moment as occurred in Cincinnati, is an uplifting experience, a real "high."

As Mayor Weidenfeld said on the Greenbelt Connection bus as we crossed over the city line into Greenbelt on our way home Sunday evening, "Win or lose, we know we're an All-America City."

most simultaneous. "He didn't really say that?" and, "What other chairman of a presentation team would describe his team as 'Mary Lou and the Four Rhythm Boys?'" It was perfect, the entire Greenbelt delegation agreed. And that moment will be savored for a lifetime.

In addition to the five presenters, other members of the team included city manager Jim Giese, whose dream it's been for many years to win the designation of "All-America City." "I wanted this award so the citizens would be recognized," he modestly proclaimed.

"Jim wants to be known as an 'All-America City Manager,'" Mayor Weidenfeld kidded.

A beaming Giese also breathed a sigh of relief when the presentation was over. "It's nice to know you're not committed to this project for the rest of your life," he said, recalling what had been a hectic month for all involved.

Preparatory Work

Between the notification that Greenbelt was among 20 finalists and the actual moment when the Greenbelt team of 15 flew off to Cincinnati on Thursday evening, participants had been in a frenzy of activity in assembling slides, organizing the trip, obtaining special projectors and booth display boards, ordering buttons and stickers, and mounting a fundraising campaign. Citizen volunteers in each of these functions made all possible. A special edition of the News Review with increased advertising rates helped defray travel costs, called attention to the volunteer efforts of the community and was distributed in Cincinnati. ## THE SOCCER SUPER KIDS

by Kevin Wheatley

If you see the following kids on the street or at school or hangin' out at the Rec. Center, go up to them, grab their hand, shake it, and tell them congratulations. Atta-boy, way to go!

The reason for the hoopla is the outstanding season they just completed. In ten games, including two hair-raising tournament matches, the 8-9 year old Greenbelt 1 Boys and Girl's club soccer team compiled an amazing record of 10 wins, and, even more amazing, 10 straight shut-outs!

No doubt about it, the kids are winners! And praise from those who know them would create a lasting impression of childhood happiness they could keep for the rest of their lives.

The team: Jason Everhart, Peter Timer, Adam Wheatley, Kelly Wheatley, Meridith Criswell, Scott Lube, T. J. Trimble, Melissa Svoboda, David Martin, Miguel Boardman-Pierra, Stacy King, Corey Lee, Kirk Piegols, Jonathan Murray, Jackie Byerly, Sean Cullinan, Tariq Dhmas, Ronnie King and Jonathan Williams.

TO YOUR HEALTH

If a little is good, is a lot more better? Not if you're talking about cholesterol. Recent studies have shown that the risk of serious blood vessel disease, especially heart attack and stroke, goes up as the blood cholesterol goes up.

The American average cholesterol of "200 plus your age" may represent our average, but we Americans have a lot of heart attacks and strokes. A safer level would be under 80 under age 30, and under 200 over age thirty.

Most of us can reduce our cholesterol by some changes in our dietary and exercise habits. Fortunately, for those who cannot get their cholesterol level down, there are medicines available to help.

Perhaps we should ask ourselves the question, "What is my cholesterol level?" And then find out.

New Springhill Lake Owners Stress Strong School Support

by Libby Nau

Springhill Lake officials announced October 24 that they will sponsor a $4,000 scholarship fund for an Eleanor Roosevelt High School graduate and that a massive modernization of their 2,899 apartments is underway. The development's first section opened in May 1963.

Despite the rain, almost 200 elected officials, civic leaders, educators and business people attended the reception and open house at the complex's newly-named Fountain Lodge.

Lerner Corporation, manager and joint owner of Springhill Lake Apartments, hosted the reception to announce their commitment to bettering the quality of life in Greenbelt and their support of the county's school system.

The four-year, $1000 a year scholarship will be awarded on a need basis to a student attending Prince Georges Community College. Kim Andreadis, marketing director for Lerner, presented the scholarship to Eleanor Roosevelt High School Principal Robert Ogden.

"This event is not just an isolated incident," said County Executive Parris Glendening at the reception. "It represents the increasing involvement of businesses in the community and their support of education," he said. "If the county is to reach its full potential, education is the key."

To symbolize their support of education, Springhill Lake officials lit a "lantern of learning." It will be replaced by a permanent structure next spring that will be kept continuously lit.

Stanley Klein, principal of Springhill Lake Elementary School, commenting that "Education is everybody's business," led a coin tossing ceremony into the Springhill Lake fountains. Banners reading "Pitch in for Prince Georges County Schools" were draped across the entrance to the Fountain Lodge. Springhill Lake agreed to match the amount of money collected from the fountain for one month and will award the check to Prince Georges County Schools. A check for $200 will be given to Klein this week.

Greenbelt Mayor Gil Weidenfeld said he hopes Lerner is setting a trend that other businesses will follow. "Lerner's approach fits right in with Greenbelt's motto of caring about people," he said.

Renovation Program

In addition to the scholarship program, Springhill Lake has begun a $12.5 million renovation of its apartments and grounds to take place over the next five years.

Improvements will include the addition of wall-to-wall carpeting, new kitchens, non-wax floors, new lighting fixtures.

Quality Care Services

mitted to doing some long-term investing here.

Lerner and Winthrop bought the Springhill Lake Apartments last January.

Guests attending the reception were also taken on guided tours by a chartered bus to see models of the renovated apartments.

There will be a $40-$50 rent increase for the new units, said Pat Giordano, assistant rental manager. She said some tenants have already requested transfers into the modernized apartments.

Other programs to be sponsored by Springhill Lake in the next year will include:

—The hiring of a volunteer coordinator to act as a resource recruiter for local charities.

—Holding a series of fund-raisers for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and the United Way.

—Increasing the availability of their facilities to county organizations such as the Prince Georges Arts Council and the Prince Georges County Department of Social Services.

Fire & Rescue Review

by B. Rowland, Jr.

Home accidents, unfortunately, occur more often during the holiday season and the most dangerous place within the home or apartment is the kitchen.

By following a few simple rules you can further protect yourself and your loved ones from unnecessary injury:

—cook over reduced temperatures whenever possible.

—avoid the practice of untended cooking. (Many serious fires are started this way.)

—keep a close eye on small children in the kitchen area, especially while cooking. Warn them of the danger!

—turn pot and pan handles in toward stove's center while cooking —have a pan cover or lid close at hand to smother fires in pots and pans.

—unplug small appliances when not in use.

—double-check that burners and oven are off when leaving home.

—consider purchasing and mounting an extinguisher in the kitchen. Mount away from cooking area to insure easy access in case of fire.

SPECIAL WARNING

Special care should be taken in the use of "Oven Cooking Bags" that are designed for convenience in cooking turkey. If package directions are not properly followed, serious fire and injury can result. Directions for this type of product, found in Greenbelt stores, call for proper venting of the bag before cooking begins. If the bag is not vented by the user, it will eventually build up enough pressure to rupture violently. Follow package recommendations of making six 1½ inch slices in the bag. Puncturing with a fork does not provide sufficient venting.

Youth Football Wrap-Up

by Jeff Keir

The 1985 Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club football season ended last Saturday, November 16, with the club's annual Raider Bowl, which was dubbed the "Mud Bowl" by the time the 125 lb. team played at 2:15 p.m.

Raider Bowl trophies were given out after each game. For the 85 lb. team game trophies were awarded to Adam Patton for best defensive back, to David Cook for best offensive back, to Richardo Leonard for best defensive lineman and to Richard Mills for best offensive lineman. For the 110 lb. team game, Mike Salinas was awarded the trophy for best offensive back, John Stringfellow for best defensive back, Jimmy Crisman for best offensive lineman and Eddie Williams for best defensive lineman. The 125 lb. team game trophy recipients were Marc Brooking for best offensive back, George Clinedinst for best defensive back, Jack Trumbull for best defensive lineman and Barry Brown for best offensive lineman.

Between the end of the 110 lb. team game and the start of the 125 lb. team game the club presented the "Chip Sacra Memorial Sportsmanship Award." The players selected for this honor were judged on their sportsmanship, cooperation, dedication, willingness to perform to the best of their ability and overall contribution to the team. Each team selects one player for this award. This year's recipients for this prestigious award were: Brian Smith for the 85 lb. team; John Stringfellow for the 110 lb. team; and George Clinedinst for the 125 lb. team. Congratulations to all.

Players and their parents are reminded that team pictures and uniform turn-ins are scheduled for Saturday, November 23, at the Youth Center — the 125 lb. team at 10 a.m.; the 110 lb. team at 10:15 a.m.; the 85 lb. team at 10:30 a.m.; and the cheerleaders at 11 a.m. Uniforms (game and practice) must be returned clean. Be sure to bring a change of clothes.

At this time the Greenbelt Boys and Girls Club wishes to extend

Leaf Removal Regulated

The City of Greenbelt is asking residents to pile their raked leaves next to the street, but not on the pavement or in the gutter. The leaves can interfere with storm drainage, or create a fire hazard, since cars with catalytic converters can set leaves on fire. Also, the city crews may not be able to pick up the leaves with the leaf vacuum if a car is parked in top of them. Although the leaf vacuum is out daily, residents may also bag their leaves and call special trash.

a hearty thank-you to each coach, parent and friend who assisted and showed support of the 1985 football program, not only at the Raider Bowl, but throughout the season. Thank-you. Registration for the 1986 football season will be in mid-July, check the News Review for details.

GHI NOTES

The next GHI Board of Directors meeting will be Thursday, November 21 at 8 p.m. in the GHI Board Room. Agenda items include policy question on the proposed expanded fee for services program, the proposed 1986 budget, 6 court Hillside engineering study, revised frame serviceside addition regulations and window policy.

GHI offices will be closed on Thanksgiving Day. For emergency maintenance, members may call 474-6011.

Here is another cold weather reminder. The heat should never be turned totally off in any room in a GHI home. Without heat, the pipes could freeze during cold weather. Members who leave their homes vacant for an extended period are asked to notify the Maintenance Department (474-6011) so the department can watch the home for any maintenance emergency.

To Your Smile*Ray Vidal, D.D.S.*What Causes Mottled Enamel?

Mottled enamel is the name of a condition in which chalky white spots and blotches appear on the teeth. Although these teeth are structurally sound, and, in fact, more resistant to decay, they are not esthetically pleasing. It is caused by too much fluoride in the diet, either naturally from certain water sources, or as a vitamin supplement.

Many parts of our country have naturally occurring fluoride in the water supply. Mottling is very common in some of these areas and, except for using bottled water, can not be prevented. In the case of dietary fluoride, strict adherence to recommended maximum levels must be maintained according to age level. The current acceptable doses are: 6 months to 2 years, 0.25 mg per day; 2-3 years, 0.5 mg per day; and over 3, 1 mg per day. These levels have been found to be sufficient to prevent dental decay while minimizing the occurrence of mottling. Note that these figures are only valid when no fluoride is found in the water supply and that under 6 months of age, fluoride is not given at all.

Maintenance Staffing, Apt. Rent Hikes, Insurance Scare Are GHI Board Topics

by Mavis Fletcher

The November 7 meeting of the board of directors of Greenbelt Homes, Inc. was again the scene of a long and confused wrangle about whether and where to increase the maintenance staff in 1986. The board again tried and failed to separate the question of expanding the fee-for-service (handyman) program from the budget process of setting dollar limits on expenditures. General Manager Ron Colton pointed out that the fee-for-service program is a policy question — "whether we want to get involved." Audit Committee Chairman Andrea Haslinger said that the fee-for-service policy needs more time and called it "not a budget item."

Further confusion resulted from an apparent misunderstanding by management (and this reporter) about what took place at the meeting on October 24. Instead of adding one laborer position to the maintenance staff for work on common grounds at that meeting, the board accepted a substitute motion by Director Todd Amani to "accept the rationale of management for additional laborer positions without specifying the number of positions. At the November 7 meeting, the board voted 6-1 (Director Janet Cantwell opposed) to add $7,500 to the maintenance payroll; this would equate to a half-time position.

Amani then tried to include a budget increase for one position to be paid for by fees for services requested by the members. Cantwell, however, moved to table this motion to the next meeting and her motion passed 5-2 with Directors Wayne Williams and Nancy Hutchins opposed. (Director Debbie Hartwick was absent due to a serious illness in the family.) The budget will be on the agenda for the November 21 meeting, when final passage is expected.

Insurance Crisis

The board, by majority vote, decided to bring into the open record a recent insurance crisis which had threatened the corporation. In response to a question by member Mary Curtis about the board's authority to spend $600,000 for asbestos removal without membership approval, President Margaret Hogensen explained that the corporation's insurance companies had at one point cancelled GHI's insurance because of the presence of asbestos in non-living space beneath some of the homes. She emphasized that the corporation had never been without insurance. (The corporation was able to obtain coverage with other companies before the mandatory notification or "grace" period had elapsed, Colton explained later.)

Hogensen also emphasized that the insurance stated that the cancellation had not been caused by any health risk but by the risk of litigation. Assistant General Manager Steve Wright also stated that tests done before, during and after asbestos removal process showed that the air quality was above the acceptable level at all times.

In answer to Curtis' specific point, Director Ray McCawley quoted a provision in the GHI bylaws which authorizes the board to spend funds required for maintenance and repairs without specific membership approval. Colton said that all asbestos has been removed and the reinstallation of vapor barriers is underway. The whole project will be finished by year's end, he said. As an added note, Colton explained that new insurance had been obtained at a savings of several thousand dollars compared to the old policy.

2 Court of Gardenway

A large contingent of members from the 2 Court of Gardenway appeared at the meeting on November 7 to ask the board to approve the creation of 14 additional parking spaces in the court. The court now has four parking spaces for 18 units. The additional spaces would allow reserved parking in the court. In a GHI first, all members in the court requested this action.

However, Haslinger pointed out that there are 36 garages in the court and that a large percentage of them are used for storage rather than parking, a violation of GHI regulations. She said that the audit committee objects to destroying greenspace to create new parking spaces unless the parking regulations in regard to garages are enforced. Hutchins then raised the question of who would pay for making the parking spaces, a question for which there was no immediate answer. On a motion by Director McCawley, the request was referred to the Ad Hoc Parking Committee and the Aesthetics and Environment Committee.

The board also heard a request from a member that GHI exercise its option to buy the member's unit. According to Hogensen, the owner had a qualified buyer who was unable to complete the purchase because he could not meet the new, tighter standards which private mortgage insurers have been imposing since, as Hogensen put it, "the EPIC problem." Since discussion of this request would involve details of the member's finances, the request was postponed to executive session.

GDC Rents to Go Up

The board, sitting also as the board of the Greenbelt Development Corporation on November 7, approved a 5% raise in apartments rents and a $1 per month increase in garage rents. The board also approved a one-year trial of a permit parking system at the apartments on Parkway, where there are 60 apartments and only 20 parking spaces. Signs are to be erected in the two GDC lots stating that parking is by permit only and that other vehicles will be towed.

Soccer Finale

by Lee Johnson

Greenbelt's 11 year and under county team finished their season last Saturday in a steady drizzle on a muddy field with a hard-fought 1-0 win over New Carrollton. The win earned them the Consolation title of the New Carrollton Invitational Tournament. Alex Collmer scored the game's only goal on a direct kick that was set up after a strong break-away by forwards Billy Byerly and Jamie Barcus. John Fiege made several outstanding saves in goal to gain his first shut-out of the season.

Team members should turn in their uniforms at the Youth Center at 7:30 on Monday, November 25. Team pictures and tournament trophies for those who haven't picked them up will be available at that time.

Hughes Executive Order Tightens S&L Rules

Governor Harry Hughes today issued an executive order to tighten State regulation of Maryland-chartered savings and loan associations.

The new regulations, drafted by Special Counsel Wilbur D. Preston at the request of the Governor, close loopholes found in current laws, strengthen conflict-of-interest provisions, and substantially limit insider transactions.

In his order, Governor Hughes stated that Preston's investigation "has revealed that certain savings and loan associations which have been found to have been operating in an unsafe and unsound manner had been involved in substantial insider transactions which had threatened the liquidity and solvency of the association."

Governor Hughes' order prohibits such transactions. The order was issued under emergency powers granted to him by the May 17, 1985, special session of the General Assembly to deal with the savings and loan problem.

He also ordered the incorporation of federal regulations and new safeguards to prohibit "various conflicts of interest, insider transactions and payment of unjustifiable fees to officers, directors and controlling persons" that Preston's investigation has uncovered.

Other regulations will prevent insiders from using NOW (Negotiated Order of Withdrawal) account overdrafts "as unsecured, interest-free loans," will require thrifts to file reports with the Division of Savings and Loans whenever there is a change in a controlling party, and will give the State stronger authority to seek conservatorships or receiverships when regulations are violated.

Governor Hughes said the order was needed immediately "to protect the welfare of depositors" and to halt "practices which have impaired the liquidity or solvency of certain savings and loan associations."

A complete review of savings and loan regulations is currently underway, with the Administration drafting changes to be presented in the 1986 session of the General Assembly.

SCHOLARSHIPS OFFERED TO SCIENCE STUDENTS

The Thomas Alva Edison Foundation and the Max McGraw Foundation are joining Potomac Electric Power Company to sponsor the 6th annual Thomas A. Edison/Max McGraw Scholarships. Twelve high school students will receive scholarships totalling over $20,000.

Two Grand Award winners will receive a $5,000 check and an all-expense paid trip to Karlsruhe, West Germany, to participate in the Edison Science and Engineering Youth Day program next March.

From the twelve finalists, each of whom receives a $1,000 scholarship upon graduation from high school, the five or six highest rated individuals will be brought together for personal interviews by a national panel of judges.

Nominations should include a proposal, which may be an abstract of an already completed experiment or a projected idea which deals with a practical application in the field of science and/or engineering; and a single letter of recommendation from the student's teacher/sponsor.

The proposal should not exceed 1,000 words or five pages and the letter of recommendation should not exceed two typewritten pages. The cover sheet of the proposal must contain the title of the entry, student's name, home address, home telephone number, grade in school; also, the teacher/sponsor's name, name of school, school address and telephone number.

Boys & Girls Club

Soccer play has been completed for the Fall '85 season, including tournament play at New Carrollton. All teams fared well and should be proud of themselves! The 6-year-old team finished in 2nd place for the season and in 4th for the tournament. "Extra hustle" awards went to Ken Barron, Robert Fiedler, April Collmer and Ryan Putens. Greenbelt 2 (8 year olds) placed 2nd for the season as well as 2nd for the tournament. Super hustlers on this team include high scorers Daniel Gomez, Jason Harbin, Greg Hunanian, Mike Ring and Kevin Lynch.

Both 8-year-old teams are planning a pizza party next week. The 11 and 13 year olds will have uniform turn-in Monday, Nov. 25, 7:30 to 8 p.m. at the Youth Center.

Many players and their families are planning to attend a Baltimore Blast Indoor Soccer Game on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 8. If anyone is interested in attending, tickets must be purchased by Wednesday, Nov. 27. Call 345-6081 for information.

Each entry must be sent to: Edison/McGraw Scholarship Program, c/o Dr. Robert A. Dean, P.O. Box 80953, San Diego, California 92138, postmarked no later than December 1.

For information, call Lorraine M. Drew, Manager, PEPCO's Community Relations and Educational Services at 872-3490 or 872-3570.

The only place the Post appears to fall down is in publicizing its contributions. "I think we, ourselves, sometimes don't make our good works known," Santos said. "It's our fault... I think our efforts have been in the dark ages regarding PR."

Luckily, the Legion's sense of charity is light years ahead of its desire for publicity. That PR is foreign to this Legion post makes it no less dear to the people of Greenbelt. Post 136 is a

Marchers Express Anger, Grief at S & L State Rally

by Suzanne Tubby Batra

On a cold and rainy Saturday, November 16, about 1600 frustrated Savings and Loan depositors from throughout Maryland marched and congregated at the State Capitol in Annapolis to protest the continuing lack of access to their money.

Depositors were particularly upset because it was recently revealed that Governor Harry Hughes had been warned nearly a year ago that their S&L's were headed for trouble, yet took no action. They were also aware that some $90 million is present in the Maryland Deposit Insurance Fund (MDIF), which is not being released; in comparison, Federal funds such as FSLIC are used directly to help depositors in failing banks, rather than being set aside arbitrarily for other purposes. No satisfactory reason for this withholding has been given by the State administration according to leaders of the depositors' movement.

About 100 Greenbelt residents joined the Annapolis rally in several cars and two buses, including a distinctive Greenbelt Connection bus loaned by the city which also provided transportation for infirm, non-marching participants to the Capitol.

While David Lange of Greenbelt, Marge Hoban of Gaithersburg and John McHale of Columbia brought the depositors' case to Hughes inside the State House, marchers stood outside in the rain and chanted "We want our money", "We're mad and we vote" and other more aggressive slogans. Several speakers, each representing an area depositor's group, addressed the assemblage. From Greenbelt, Jack McCollum, a Green Ridge House resident in his mid-nineties, clearly and ably described the distress caused to the elderly by blocked resources. Margaret Hogensen discussed the predicament of housing cooperative Greenbelt Homes, Inc., also caught up in the Community S&L crisis through its members' problems. Lekh Batra, a founder of the depositors' protest movement, emphasized the deep injustice and harm done to many innocent depositors by the speculative self-dealing of EPIC owners and executives, now exacerbated by the bureaucratic inertia and lack of response of state officials.

Those present, in various ways, vividly expressed their frustration, grief and incredulity that the supposed virtue of foresight and thrifty saving for a rainy day was shown to be valueless, on this cold, rainy day.

of commercial and residential development," he said.

Thomas L. O'Connor, head of W M A T A's land acquisition branch, said that WMATA will purchase 17 pieces of property from 13 landowners for construction of the line. While three businesses will have to move, he said, no residences will be affected. Construction of the line depends on how quickly land can be bought for the project, he said.

Procurement of property and further construction of the line can begin only after the WMATA board of directors has reviewed all testimony and statements concerning the proposed changes and recommended a course of action, WMATA reports said.

WMATA will accept written statements concerning the proposed Green Line changes through November 16. Statements can be sent to WMATA at 600 Fifth St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20001. All testimony will be addressed in a planning department report to the WMATA board of directors.

After the board makes a decision concerning the route change, the line will take about five or six years to complete, WMATA officials said.

Coxon and Maffay Attend Republican Convention

Eunice E. Coxon, Greenbelt area chair of the County Republican Party and Elizabeth Maffay, former Greenbelt City Councilwoman and past Republican candidate for the House of Delegates and long time activist in the party, attended the Friday evening and Saturday morning sessions of the 1985 Fall Republican State Convention at the Omni International Hotel in Baltimore on October 25 and 26.

Although they were there as members of the "Friends of Dr. Aris T. Allen Committee", they attended the hospitality suite reception of Howard County Executive Hugh Nichols, who recently changed his party affiliation to Republican and is considering announcing for governor.

Allen, a resident of Ann Arundel County and former State Party Chairman and former State Legislator may decide to run for either governor or the U.S. Senate seat to be vacated by Senator Charles Mathias.

Coxon and Maffay also visited and met with several other Republicans from various parts of Maryland who are considering filing for state office in the 1986 election.

Congresswoman Helen Bentley addressed the morning session on election strategy in 1986. Dr. Jeane Kirkpatrick, former Ambassador to the United Nations, was the keynote speaker at the fund-raising dinner on Saturday night.

Lions Sponsored "Toys for Tots"

The Lion's Club along with the U. S. Marines will sponsor the "Toys for Tots" program this year in Greenbelt. If it were not for the "Toys for Tots" program started by the U. S. The Lions ask people to give generously this year — used and new toys (in good working condition) — and bring them to the Youth Center on Saturday and Sunday, December 7 and 8 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

"Toys for Tots" is part of Greenbelt's Festival of Lights.
